Helping Horses Help Kids & Others

About

PBJ Connections provides professional behavioral health therapy to children, adults and families through horses, counseling and nature. We provide services to those with mental health illnesses, including but not limited to: Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder, Anxiety, and Depression. We are extremely proud of our services that specifically work with Veterans, the elderly, adults with substance abuse disorders, the LGBTQ+ community, and youth and women who have experienced trauma.

Our corporate and community partners have helped thousands of families over the years. As a Helping Horses Help Kids & Others sponsor you promote social responsibility, enhance your brand marketing, and support mental healthcare for all in central Ohio.

The EAgala model provides a non-riding intervention that utilizes the herd mentality and prey animal nature of horses to help clients learn about themselves. Horses are always honest and provide immediate feedback in the moment. They are experts in mindfulness and utilize their superior powers of observation to quickly assess situations and people with whom they interact.
